Dear CJUSD Community,

As a district, we are committed to keeping our Center Joint Unified School District community informed. If you have questions or something is needed, please do not hesitate to contact any of our schools or district offices. We are all in this together and are here to help. We will also continue to keep our website updated with the most recent information. (www.centerusd.org)

We thank you again for your continued support and partnership as we move forward during these unprecedented times.

Updates

Our students' and community's safety and well-being continues to be a priority for us as a district. With the events that unfolded yesterday in Washington DC, we know that these events can evoke emotions and impact our children and even us as adults. Our children are aware of the world around them and are watching and looking to us as adults to provide guidance, answers, and understanding of these types of events. These conversations and questions from our children are important to have, but it can be difficult for us adults at the same time. Below are a few links that provide guidance and resources that may be helpful.

How to Talk to Your Child About the News

Please know that we are here for your student and you. Please reach out to any of our schools or the district office if you would like any additional support or resources.

- 1) Governor Newsom's School Reopening Plan in the News - There has been recent news around the reopening of schools within California. Governor Newsom recently announced a plan, with details later to follow from him, that will incentivize TK- 6 school grade levels reopening. We want you to be aware that we are monitoring and coordinating this opportunity with our health professionals and other educational leaders to evaluate the newly proposed plan. Once the Governor releases specific details, we will update you on any adjustments or changes to our plans moving forward. At this point, our district continues to remain in a distance learning model for all students, except for a few specialized cohorts.
- 2) Our Family Resource Center is always finding new ways to support our families. Please visit our Family Resource Center website by clicking HERE for the most up to date information.

- 3) We now have our CJUSD Playbook translated into multiple languages. These translated versions may be accessed by visiting our current Playbook or by clicking the language below.

- 4) We have launched a Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) document that can be viewed by clicking here. We plan to continually update this document to ensure you have answers to our most commonly asked questions. Additionally, this link will lead you to many other informative resources. As always, please do not hesitate to contact (call or email) your school office or the Center Joint Unified School District Office with any questions or suggestions. We are here to help you.

Thank you!
